City of Jacksonville
Mayor Jeff Elmore

"Think globally, act locally" is a philosophy that I feel best describes the people, community and spirit of Jacksonville. Our city is full of opportunities for local action that can create meaningful change far beyond our city limits. Within Jacksonville are world-changers of all ages, individuals who are proud to call this city home and who seek opportunities to make a lasting impact right here in their own backyard.

The Jacksonville Chamber of Commerce plays a vital role in cultivating those opportunities. It empowers business owners to invest not only in their own success, but also in the continued advancement and growth of Jacksonville, investments that will strengthen our community for generations to come.

I have been honored to serve as Mayor of Jacksonville since January 2023. In addition to serving our city in a municipal capacity, my wife and I are proud small business owners in Jacksonville and active members of the Jacksonville Chamber of Commerce. I have witnessed Jacksonville's steady growth over the years, and I eagerly anticipate the continued progress on our horizon. I have also had the privilege of serving on the Chamber's Board of Directors. I understand firsthand the importance of small businesses in a community, especially Jacksonville, a place that I have unashamedly called home for over eighteen years. My commitment to Jacksonville's success remains steadfast as a resident, business owner and Mayor.

Jacksonville Chamber of Commerce membership is more than a title or a badge — it is access to a supportive network of local businesses and business owners throughout Jacksonville and central Arkansas. Members benefit from meaningful networking opportunities, connections with current and prospective clients, and relationships that provide encouragement, collaboration and support at every stage of growth.

The value of Chamber membership extends well beyond networking opportunities, ribbon cutting events and member-exclusive breakfasts and luncheons. The Chamber serves as a major hub of economic development, and business recruitment and retention — offering more than a location, but a welcoming home within an engaged and empowering community.

Additionally, the long-standing partnership between the Chamber of Commerce, the City of Jacksonville and Little Rock Air Force Base has been deeply valued since the Base's opening in 1957. Jacksonville is proud to serve as the host city of Little Rock Air Force Base, and we honor the role the Base plays locally, nationally and internationally.

If you are a current member of the Jacksonville Chamber of Commerce, thank you for your continued investment and commitment to our city. If you are not yet a member, I strongly encourage you — especially as a fellow small business owner — to learn more about the Chamber and the many benefits of membership. Jacksonville is strongest when we are united, and together, the possibilities for positive change are limitless. We invite you to soar with us.

Come connect with Jacksonville to find out for yourself why we call it home.

Jacksonville hosts numerous entertainment options that are nearly as diverse as the city's over 29,000 residents. From yearly events, such as FestiVille, Shop Small Christmas Crawl and the Annual Christmas Parade and Downtown Tree Lighting ceremony, to the daily enjoyment of the many parks, trails, shops and restaurants, there is something for the entire family in Jacksonville.

Like any community, Jacksonville's successful and thriving education system is the heartbeat of the city. World-class educational opportunities are available at any grade level.

As part of a $170 million investment, the Jacksonville North Pulaski School District (JNPSD) is set to have all new schools by 2024. Since 2018, Bobby G. Lester Elementary, Jacksonville Elementary, Jacksonville Middle and Jacksonville High schools have opened in new buildings. Groundbreaking ceremonies for the new Bayou Meto and Murrell Taylor elementary schools completed 2024, all schools.

Jacksonville is also home to Lighthouse Academies of Arkansas, a K-12 charter school with a college preparatory environment; the Lighthouse Academies district also has a middle school campus located on Little Rock Air Force Base. Known as Flightline Upper Academy, this campus has been named as an "A School" by the DESE. Lighthouse and JNPSD schools have been named as "Purple Star Schools" by the Arkansas Department of Education for their commitment to serving students and families connected to our nation's armed forces.

The Jacksonville Parks and Recreation Department is dedicated to enhancing the quality of life in Jacksonville through a variety of recreation and sports programs, special activities and events, and world-class facilities and parks. The centerpiece of this Department is the Jacksonville Community Center, a facility that houses an indoor pool, a second-floor workout area, and plenty of space for physical activities and classes of all sorts. Over 7,500 square feet of space is available for meetings, seminars, special events and more.

Along with the Community Center, multiple options exist for anyone who enjoys being outdoors. Jacksonville offers outdoor basketball courts, multiple lakes and ponds for fishing, and the Arkansas Game and Fish Foundation Shooting Sports Complex. This complex is one of the largest in Arkansas, and includes trap lanes, skeet shooting, meeting space, two pavilions and a stocked lake. The newest park, the Jacksonville Dog Park, opened in 2021 and has fenced zones for dogs both large and small. Splash Zone, located at 201 W. Martin Street, is a fun, outdoor water park with slides, diving boards, a child zone, concessions and much more. Although an attraction, Splash Zone's central access to the many neighborhood parks is what residents enjoy most.

HOME Military OF LITTLE ROCK AIRFORCE BASE

Little Rock Air Force Base and its relationship with Jacksonville began in 1951 when the Air Force announced plans to build a base in the central United States. Local leaders rallied together and convinced Congress that they would purchase and donate the land needed for the installation. By the end of 1952, the Pulaski County Citizens Council, now known as the LRAFB Community Council, had raised more than $800,000. This allowed the committee to acquire property from more than 150 landowners near Jacksonville.

That same year, the Air Force announced plans to construct a $31 million dollar jet bomber base on the site, and in October 1955 the installation officially opened its gates. Through numerous mission changes over the decades, the base and the Jacksonville community have maintained a strong and mutually beneficial partnership. This relationship has been recognized with multiple national awards honoring the community's outstanding support of the base.

Today, Little Rock AFB is proudly known as the Home of Herk Nation. It is home to Active Duty, Air Force Reserve, and Air National Guard Airmen who conduct formal training and operational missions around the globe. With 57 C-130J/H aircraft on the flight line and more than 700 students trained annually, the base remains a critical hub for mobility operations.

The economic impact on the region is significant. As the sixth largest employer in Arkansas, the base supports more than 6,300 service members and over 1,100 Department of Defense civilians and contractors. This accounts for more than 7,700 jobs and contributes an estimated $1.38 billion annually to the local economy.

It is easy to see why the citizens of Jacksonville are deeply connected to Little Rock Air Force Base. Together, the base and the community continue working side by side to strengthen Jacksonville and ensure a vibrant future for generations to come.
